SAVED TIME (REMIX)

From the bustling city of Plovdiv, Bulgaria, to the serene mountains of Switzerland, the musical journey of Adik Angel has been as eclectic as the music she creates. Her unique blend of styles - pop-electro, dance, hip hop, all enriched by Balkanic or Oriental rhythms - echoes the authentic melodies and rhythms of her cultural roots. And yet, Angel's music is not limited to the traditional; her work is a daring exploration of sound and rhythm, reflecting her innovative spirit and her tireless pursuit of musical excellence.

Adik Angel, a composer with a lifelong passion for music, began her journey at a young age. Born into a musical family, she quickly embraced her creative calling, studying classical piano and immersing herself in the world of shows, rehearsals, and concerts. By the age of 12, she had already received first place in the "Swiss Youth Music" competition.

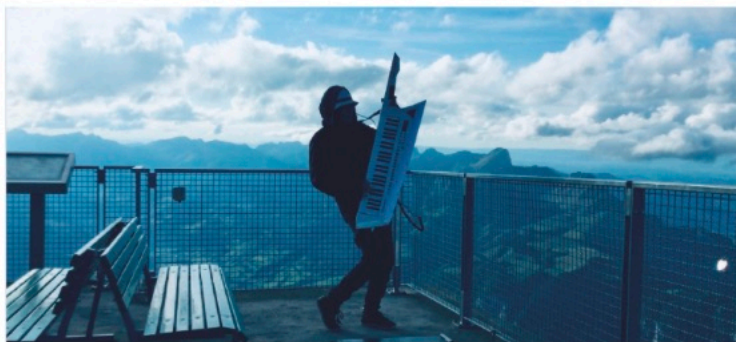

But Angel's thirst for music was not quenched by classical music alone. At the age of 14, she discovered the power of electronic instruments and the pop-rock culture, and from there, there was no looking back. Angel's first group performed in concerts and on regional radios, creating a buzz in the local music scene. This early success only fueled her ambition, leading her to further her studies at the Conservatory of Music and later, the Geneva School of Audio Engineering.

Angel's commitment to music extends beyond performance. Over the past decade, she has produced seven new albums and fourteen singles, including "ON THE MOVE," "New Sky," "Time to Fly," "Ancient Roots," "Seven Dreams," "So far away," and many more. Her latest album, "EVASIONS," released in January 2022, captures her unique sound and innovative approach to music.

Her latest single, "SAVED TIME (REMIX)," slated for release on April 1, 2023, promises to be yet another hit.

Angel's music, which she produces from start to finish - from the melody to the harmonic composition, arrangements, recording, and mixing, to the final mastering - has garnered attention and acclaim worldwide. Her single "Saved Time" and the album "New Sky" received numerous awards on the web, and on platforms like ReverbNation. Angel was also selected as a semi-finalist for the Unsigned Only 2019 Music Competition multiple times and has been featured twice in Lifoti Magazine and the Bulgarian newspaper, Марица - Пловдив.

A FUSION OF CLASSICAL ROOTS AND ELECTRO-POP INNOVATION

In her journey, Angel has not been alone. She has collaborated with artists like Valentin Vasilev - Val, a guitarist from Bulgaria, and Rachel Nusbaumer, a film music composer from Geneva, Switzerland. These collaborations have resulted in unique pieces, like the "MISSION REMIX feat. Valentin Vasilev - Val" and "Stardust Reorchestrated" by Rachel Nusbaumer.

As she continues her musical journey, Adik Angel is more determined than ever to push the boundaries of music. With new music projects and creations underway, and a new single on the horizon, Angel is poised to take her place in the annals of music history. With her unique sound, innovative approach, and unwavering dedication, Adik Angel is a name to watch in the music industry.

"Saved Time (Remix)" by Adik Angel is a vibrant burst of EDM energy, perfectly tuned for the summer season. The Swiss-based composer skillfully infuses a sense of effervescent sunshine and pulsating beats that create an irresistible vibe for outdoor festivities and tea dances.

Just like its original version, the remix is dominated by lively guitar plucks, a musical trend that resonates with today's audiences. This musical component is accentuated with a vocal effect saturated with reverb, contributing to an ethereal, expansive sound.

The highlight of the track comes when the playful guitar plucks yield to a more bluesy guitar tone. This guitar rich in reverb meticulously explores a descending melodic progression, adding a dramatic, emotional depth to the soundscape. After this bluesy interlude, the track reverts back to the upbeat, plucky guitar line that becomes progressively intricate.
